Call for Scholarship Applications
Deadline for applications is July 31, 2017

Erudition Scholarship CFA Serbia, a non-registered private foundation, is accepting scholarship applications for the Chartered Financial Analyst (CFA) Program exams to be held at the test centre in Belgrade in June 2018.

The mission of the Foundation is to further the potential of world-class financial talent in Serbia by offering scholarships to outstanding individuals and support their professional development by tapping into the e-learning structure of the globally recognized Chartered Financial Analyst Institute. To this end, the Foundation is currently funding a 5th year of scholarships, June 2014 – June 2018 and has up to date granted 64 scholarships.

The selected candidates will have demonstrated themselves through exceptional academic achievement, personal and professional excellence, and determination to enrich their qualifications by being awarded the professional designation of a CFA charterholder – considered by many to be the gold standard in finance today.

Interested candidates may submit, by July 31, the following:

* CV/resume (including language proficiency and citizenship)

* A response to the question: If you won a big monetary prize, that cannot be spent on yourself and needed to be distributed within one year, how would you allocate the funds?

Email the above to: Ana Vjetrov – Program Coordinator – a.vjetrov.cfa.serbia@gmail.com; and a copy to: cfa.serbia@gmail.com

We thank all applicants in advance, and those being offered the scholarship will be informed on August 9. Thereafter, it is a simple four step process: the scholarship recipient registers on-line with the CFA Institute; emails their invoice for payment processing to Erudition Scholarship CFA Serbia by August 14; we issue payment directly to the CFA Institute; the Institute processes payments within 7 business days and emails to the registrant the digital format curriculum eBook.

Best wishes,
